Accidents Kill 17 In Michigan Over Week End

Traffic Mishaps Are Fatal To Eleven

(By The Associated Press)
A springtime snow storm helped push Michigan's accident toll to an unusually heavy 17 over the weekend.

Eleven persons were killed in traffic mishaps on the state's slushy highways. Three died in fires. Two young boys drowned in a creek and a three-year-old girl lost her life in a stove explosion. More than a score of persons were seriously injured in the highway crashes.

In addition, five Michigan residents, including four members of one Detroit family, were killed in two traffic accidents outside the state.

Three-year-old Lida Arlene Julian was killed Saturday when a heater exploded in her home at Parchment, a Kalamazoo suburb.

The drowning victims were nine-year-old Dennis Daniels and his chum, Donald McLean, Jr., eight. They tumbled into Armstrong creek while playing near their Flint homes late Friday afternoon.

The body of Walter Tomaszewski, 63, was found in his fire-gutted house in Detroit early Sunday. His relatives said Tomaszewski always smoked in bed.

A nine-year-old boy and a young father also burned to death. The youngster was Herbert Grant, who perished when his fire swept the home of a friend, Glen Wailin, in Adrian Saturday. Marvin Wood, Jr., 23, father of two children, lost his life in a blaze that destroyed his house near Traverse City Saturday night.

The traffic victims included two children.

Textile Strike Starts In Dixie

Cotton-Rayon Union Wants More Pay

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — (AP) — Picketing began in earnest today as close to 40,000 CIO cotton and rayon workers in the south struck for higher wages.

Negotiations between mill management and the Textile Workers Union of America broke off with no agreement over the weekend. The union president, Emil Rieve, went to Greensboro and established strike headquarters.

The first picketing started as third shift workers were due to come on at some mills late last night. However, the picketing started in full force early today as the first shift was to begin.

The strike followed a two-week truce requested by the defense department. Many mills are producing war materials.

The union is demanding 13 cents more an hour, plus a cost of living adjustment and improved pension and insurance benefits.

U. S. Budget Surplus Eases Tax Increase

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder today called for prompt action on the administration's $10,000,000,000 "first round" tax increase proposal, but said a "second round" boost can be postponed until next year in view of a vastly improved budget situation.

Revealing new official budget estimates, Snyder told the House Ways and Means committee that: 1. This fiscal year, which ends next June 30, should produce a surplus of about $3,000,000,000 in contrast with the $2,700,000,000 deficit President Truman forecast in January.

2. Tax revenues next fiscal year, which starts July 1, should be about $3,000,000,000 above the January forecast, indicating that the previous deficit prediction of $16,500,000,000 will be no more than $13,500,000,000.

When Snyder first outlined the administration's 1951 revenue program, he asked a $4,000,000,000 increase in individual income taxes, $3,000,000,000 more from corporations and a $3,000,000,000 boost in excise (sales) taxes on such items as automobiles, liquor, cigarettes, television sets, sewing machines and a long list of consumer durable goods.

And this, he cautioned, was just a first step; he would be back later to seek another $6,000,000,000 or more he estimated would be needed to balance next year's budget. He didn't say how he proposed to raise this second installment.

Two Persons Drown In Southern Floods; Crop Damage Heavy

(By The Associated Press)

Rampaging floodwaters in the deep south, Iowa and New Jersey were receding Monday after causing widespread damage to farmlands, homes and roads.

Churning waters of the Alabama, Tombigbee, Warrior and Coosa Rivers spilled into the open farmlands of South Alabama where it was feared crop damage would be serious.

The Tombigbee, Warrior and Coosa Rivers were receding or had crested Sunday in northwest Mississippi, northwest Georgia and northern Alabama. The Alabama was due to crest at 48 feet at Salma today (Monday). Some 1,200 persons were driven from their homes by the swollen rivers in the three-state area, but many returned to their water-soaked homes Sunday.

At least two persons drowned in southern floods.

A large section of the south — from Kentucky to the Gulf states, including the flood-stricken areas — was blanketed by showers and thunderstorms early Monday.

High waters of the Des Moines and Raccoon Rivers in Iowa moved downstream, easing the situation at Des Moines.

The flood at Des Moines claimed the life of Mary Cordingley, 31, Iowa's women's golf champion. She was drowned early Saturday when her automobile was

Fast Milwaukee Road Freight Plows Into Neola, Ia., Furnace

NEOLA, Ia. — (AP) — Thirteen cars of a high speed 92 car west-bound Chicago and Milwaukee railroad freight train jumped the tracks yesterday and plowed into a building containing a cyanide furnace.

The furnace, however, was not in use at the time. Had it been in operation, Shanning Jensen, owner of the building, said a severe fire would have resulted, possibly threatening the entire Neola business district.

A broken journal on the 65th car was blamed by W. T. Stewart, of Perry, Ia., assistant division superintendent of the railroad, for the wreck. Stewart could make no immediate loss estimate, but it was expected to be high since little of the merchandise in the cars could be salvaged.

St. Paul Shopping Center Razed By Fire And Blasts

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—Fire and explosions reduced a sprawling shopping center to shambles yesterday. Two persons were hurt.

Damage estimates ran as high as $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. Nine of the seventeen business places in the block-sized center, were heaps of rubble after the blaze.

Firemen said flames apparently broke out in a supermarket about 2 a. m. (EST) and spread throughout most of the "L"-shaped center. Shortly after the blaze had engulfed a drug store, an explosion ripped it apart.

Harold Shapiro, 46, was blown across a street and under a parked car by the blast. He was only dazed. Joseph Drexel, district fire chief, was caught under rubble and suffered cuts and bruises.

Cause of the fire had not been determined.

Fireworks Sure At UAW Session

Reuther To Ask Big Boost In Dues

By GLENN ENGLE
CLEVELAND — (AP)—A dues boost proposal certain to produce fireworks reminiscent of past union battles hits the CIO United Auto Workers convention floor today.

President Walter Reuther, with virtually no opposition on all other issues, confidently predicted approval of his move to raise UAW dues from $1.50 to $2.50 a month.

But anti-Reuther leaders, assured of support from some right wing and middle-of-the-road elements, were mobilizing their strength for a showdown battle on this one ticklish issue. They likewise predicted victory.

The dues rate was raised last in 1946—from $1 to $1.50—after a bitter debate. Reuther wanted to boost it again at the last convention in 1949 but dropped the matter in the face of certain defeat.

In his presidential address opening the convention yesterday Reuther ripped into the government's mobilization program with a fury he hadn't before shown on the subject.

Washington Police Hunt Thug Who Beat Up Maj. Gen. Hurley

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A dozen Washington policemen have been assigned to hunt for the thug—possibly a would-be thief—who attacked Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley outside his home Saturday night.

Hurley, former secretary of war, was under treatment for head cuts and bruises at Walter Reed hospital.

Hurley, 68, was unlocking the front door of his Massachusetts avenue home Saturday night when he was struck twice from behind. He told police he "put up a good fight" before he was knocked to the ground. The man fled.

Senator Says Truman Will Run Again In 1952

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Anderson (D-NM) predicted today that President Truman will run again in 1952.

Anderson heads the Democratic senatorial campaign committee and served for a time as acting chairman of the Democratic National committee during last year's election campaign.

The New Mexico Senator told a reporter he interprets as a decision to seek another term Mr. Truman's announcement last week that he has made up his mind about 1952 plans but won't tell anybody about it.

"I still think the president is going to run again," Anderson said. "It is my guess the president will permit the election of convention delegates pledged to him."

"Of course, if he decides at that time not to run again, he could thank the delegates and suggest that they support some other nominee." Anderson said that if the president made such a decision just before the convention next year, his choice of a successor conceivably could be Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Tomorrow's Chicago mayoral election might have some bearing on President Truman's possible candidacy.

Robert L. Hunter, Republican opposing Democratic Mayor Martin H. Kennedy, has been telling the voters that if they elect him, President Truman will be through.

With the slogan that "A vote for Kennedy in '51 is a vote for Truman in '52," Hunter contends that if the Democrats lose Chicago the president will be discouraged about the prospects of Illinois' support next year and won't run.

House Tackles Bill To Lower Age For Draft

President Of France Addresses Congress

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate voted today a proposal to ban the sending of U. S. foot soldiers under age 20 to serve in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense force.

The vote was 62 to 27. It was the first ballot taken in connection with the troops-for-Europe issue.

Senator Case (R-SD) proposed to bar use of foot soldiers under age 20. The Senate met two hours earlier than usual in an effort to come to a final decision on the troops-for-Europe issue after weeks of debate.

And the House, back from a 10-day Easter vacation, rolls up its sleeves for what may develop into a bitter fight over the new draft bill.

Senate approval of President Truman's plan to send four U. S. divisions to western Europe was apparently in the bag. But the final form of two similar resolutions aimed at giving that approval—and asking the president to get Congressional approval before sending any more troops—was in hot dispute.

Debate was limited in a session starting two hours earlier than usual. A mid-day break was called so senators could hear President Auriol of France address a joint session of Congress.

Bay City-Alpena Passenger Train Makes Last Run

BAY CITY — (AP) — Passenger service from Bay City to Alpena on the Detroit & Mackinac tracks is a thing of the past.

But the time-honored run, bowing out Saturday, made its farewell to the Michigan transportation scene a memorable one.

Some 300 passengers, many of them dressed colorfully in the styles of 50 to 75 years ago when the line was in its heyday, filled four extra coaches as the last run traveled northward.

Most were retired employees and their wives, and all received special passes to commemorate the final trip. Mrs. Henriette Ludwig, 85, who rode the first passenger train out of Alpena in 1888, was on hand for the trip, along with her husband, Adam, 89-year-old Alpena Brookstone operator. They were married three months ago.

Harvey Mc Murray of Alpena, a conductor for 45 years, was in charge of the last train.

Reds Build Up Armies North Of Parallel 38; Allies Jump Border

TOKYO — (AP)—Allied tank-infantry patrols stabbed across the 38th parallel into Red Korea "several" times yesterday and today.

Presumably all pulled back to main Allied lines after short periods north of the pre-war boundary between North and South Korea.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported from the western front that the border crossings "had no special significance." They were part of the routine patrolling constantly being carried out along the front.

Offensive Anticipated

Main Allied interest was focused north of 38 on the central front. There the Communists are massing troops and equipment for a probable spring offensive.

Randolph said the Communist defenses north of 38 were a network of trenches, log pillboxes, rifle pits and dugouts.

New Chinese tactics have delayed Allied infantry assaults on Red hill positions. In the past the Reds usually waited on their hilltop crests for the Allies to hit them. They suffered heavily from artillery and air attacks.

Now they wait on the reverse side of the slopes and man their trenches only at the last moment. By then the Allied infantry is too near the lines to receive close artillery support.

On the central front, south of the reported Communist buildup, troops of a U. S. division were stopped three miles short of 38 by heavy Communist fire.

Dug In On Hill

The Reds, entrenched on a formidable hill north of Chunchon, threw mortar, artillery and machinegun fire at the doughboys who slogged through a valley and up a slope toward the Communist position.

The Allied troops were supported by artillery and air attacks but failed to dislodge the Reds. As the afternoon waned they withdrew for the night.

Infantry patrols cautiously led the way as the U. N. ground forces moved in force to within half a mile of 38 across the western and central fronts. The Reds hit them with heavy mortar and machinegun fire.

Twenty B-29s from Okinawa dropped 120 tons of bombs along main Communist supply routes in North Korea Monday. They hit three vital bridges.

Ore Handlers Called At Escanaba; First Freighter At Docks

Escanaba iron ore handlers, about 90 in number, today were being asked by the Chicago & North Western railroad to return to work on the C&NW docks, said Leonard C. Reynolds, Peninsula division superintendent.

They are asked to return under the terms of a 1949 contract and a directive of the U. S. Army, issued Feb. 8, 1951.

It will require all of today and part of tomorrow to complete the individual contact of the ore handlers, who on March 20 notified the North Western they would be absent "until further notice" because of a dispute concerning overtime pay for Saturdays and Sundays.

Weekend Pay Problem

Meanwhile the Str. C. C. Conway of the Hanna line arrived in Escanaba harbor yesterday at 1:30 p. m. from Milwaukee to load 9,000 tons of ore, and is lying idle at the C&NW docks.

Negotiations between representatives of the ore handlers and the C&NW are continuing at Chicago, where they began the day after notice of absence was filed.

It was reported by the ore handlers that agreement had been reached on hourly rates of pay, but negotiations had bogged down on the question of the C&NW paying time and one-half for Saturdays and Sundays. The new rate for a 40-hour week was reported as $1.72 an hour, an increase of 12½ cents above the hourly rate paid last year.

Str. Conway Arrives

The contacts with the ore handlers here is being made by Lee A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent. Telephone and personal calls are being made.

Unscheduled arrival of the Str. Conway caught the C&NW with only 6,000 tons of ore on hand in 225 cars in the railroad yards. There is no ore here for the Hanna company. The 6,000 tons is for Inland Steel and Pickands Mather company boats.

Supt. Reynolds today said mines at Stambaugh have been advised to begin "limited loading" of ore for shipment to Escanaba by rail.

Under Army Control

The Str. Conway has a cargo capacity of about 9,000 tons of (Continued On Page 12)

Coaler Stuck In Detour Ice

Canadian Ship Finds River Trip Tough

SAULT STE. MARIE—(AP)—The Canadian coaler Sir Thomas Shaughnessy isn't making any progress at all in her attempt to be the first ship to clear the St. Mary's river in 1951.

The Sir Thomas is stuck tightly in about 20 inches of ice off Detour at the lower entrance of the river, and the coast guard isn't sure when it will have an ice-breaker available to free the ship.

The ship, owned by the Colonial Steamship Co., of Canada, got stuck Saturday enroute to the Algoma Steel Corp. at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., with a load of coal.

No other ships have attempted to make it that far yet.

Commander Theodore Dahlburg, of the Soo Coast Guard station, said all ice-breakers normally available here are now working in the ice-clogged Straits of Mackinac to get shipping moving between Lakes Huron and Michigan.

Solid blue ice in the St. Mary's, which connects Lakes Superior and Huron, ranges up to 15 inches. This is topped by five to seven inches of snow ice.

New Cars Allowed Only Four Tires

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government today knocked the spare tire off new cars.

To save rubber for truck, tractor and farm equipment tires, the National Production Authority (NPA) directed that new passenger cars be delivered with only four tires.

Several of the big automobile manufacturers already had adopted that as their own policy.

The order, effective as of yesterday, does not prevent new-car buyers from purchasing a fifth tire themselves to replace the one left off by the factory.

Vote Turnout Not Heavy In Michigan Today

Spring Election Has N' Zip This Year

By JACK I. GREEN

DETROIT—(AP)—Michigan voters generally got an unexpected break from the weatherman today as they went to the polls to elect scores of state and local officers in regular spring elections.

The day broke bright and clear over heavily populated Wayne county (Detroit), and snow and rain showers were widely scattered. Above freezing temperatures, however, made many county roads next to impassable.

Only Sunday, U. S. forecasters had figured the weather would be bad throughout the state today.

Only Light Snow

Condition, however, were ideal for getting to the polls in many populous areas. Traverse City, Cadillac, Lansing, Houghton, and Grand Marais were among the few points reporting light morning snow fall. The weather bureau said rain showers were even more widely scattered.

Despite the break in weather, however, few observers expected the total vote to come close to the 850,000 ballots cast two years ago.

The polls opened at 7 a. m. today and close at 8 p. m. tonight.

Thurston Under Fire

The voters were choosing two state supreme court justices, a state superintendent of public instruction, two regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the state board of agriculture, a member of the state board of education, township and municipal officials and were passing on three ballot questions.

The spring election, normally a dull affair in which only the party faithful show interest, this year lacks anything like that which zipped up the 1949 election — the Democrats' all-out attempt to unseat state highway commissioner Charles M. Ziegler.

This year the big drive was against the Republicans long hold over the superintendency of public instruction, now held by Dr. Lee M. Thurston.

Governor Williams turned the guns on Thurston in time for the Sunday newspaper editions attacking Thurston's handling of the Litchfield school padding case.

Township Races Help

Republicans yelled "roorback" and accused Williams of trotting out a false implication at the last minute for political purposes.

Democrats staked their hopes on a big turnout of voters in Wayne county, where two Senatorial seats are to be filled, labor has a keen interest in a school board campaign and city firemen conducted a big "get out the vote" drive on behalf of a ballot issue affecting their employment.

The Republican strength lay in the fact that the townships through the state are electing supervisors today and that is always a rallying point for the GOP grassroots organization.

The Democrats have not made any impression in a spring election in 18 years.

Car Stuck In Mud; Gas Kills Driver

BENTON HARBOR — (AP)—A muddy road was held partly to blame today in the asphyxiation death of John Stanek, 30, of (Route 3) South Haven.

Stanek was found unconscious in his car early Sunday near Mud Lake. The vehicle was stuck in the mud, with its muffler submerged in water, and the engine was still running. Coroner Fern Calvin of South Haven said Stanek died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The victim was dead on admittance to South Haven hospital.

Delta's Quota $3,000 In Cancer Fund Drive

Volunteers will begin making calls on Delta county residents Monday, April 9, in the 1951 Cancer Fund campaign to raise Delta's quota of $3,000, it was announced today by Atty. Harlan J. Yelland, county chairman.

April is the traditional "Fight Cancer" month in America, and the national goal is $14,565,000. The funds are used to finance the American Cancer Society's program of research and education.

One of 60 counties comprising the Michigan division of the American Cancer Society, Delta has had a Cancer Society for several years and has conducted a helpful local program of service and education. Because of this background of assistance, Chairman Yelland is confident the county's $3,000 goal will be achieved.

Cancer the Killer

"Most of us have come to realize that when we are fighting cancer we are fighting to preserve the lives of ourselves and our loved ones," Chairman Yelland declared. "We know now that cancer is the No. 2 killer, ranking second only to heart disease. It claimed the lives of 210,000 persons in the United States in 1950, or one out of seven who died. And the cancer rate in this county is practically the same as for the rest of the nation, as this disease respects no geographical or political boundaries."

Chairman Yelland added that the sad part of it is that even with available medical knowledge and techniques, approximately 70,000 of those lives could have been saved by early detection and prompt treatment.

The situation becomes more frightening when competent medical authorities tell us that there are some 600,000 persons in this country now being treated for cancer and unless science discovers better techniques for preventing and overcoming the disease, one out of every five persons now living may become the victim of cancer.

Organized in County Yelland also announced that Atty. William Anderson will have charge of the city of Escanaba and that Henry Miller of Gladstone will take charge of the drive there.

A new policy was established this year and instead of having one rural chairman to take over the entire county, three such chairmen have been selected and expressed their willingness to take charge of the various areas. Leo Brunelle, superintendent of schools at Bark River has consented to take charge of the entire western part of the county. Atty. Clair Hoehn of Gladstone will take charge of the same duties pertaining to the northern part of the county. Jack Miller of Rapid River will supervise the rural areas in the eastern part of the county.

Announcements are to be made later as to the various township chairmen and other persons who have volunteered to aid in the drive.

THOSE IN UNIFORM

James Richard Anderson, 1417 North 22nd street, has passed his physical at Minneapolis and is now at the USNR Station at Great Lakes for his inductive training.

Circuit Court Jurors Named

Escanaba-Iron Mountain Bus Discontinued By Greyhound Line

The Greyhound Bus Lines today abandoned the special Escanaba-Iron Mountain bus run, which has made connections the past two months with the Peninsula "400" streamliner at Powers.

The bus service was started after the C&NW railway discontinued its "scooter" service between Escanaba and Iron River. Norman Hansen, superintendent of Greyhound Bus Lines, said the run was unprofitable.

The bus left Escanaba at 9:45 p. m. and arrived at Iron Mountain at 11:20 p. m. On the return trip, it left Iron Mountain at 7:30 a. m. and arrived at Escanaba at 10:45 a. m.

Augustana Choir Will Offer Varied Program

Sacred and secular songs to be sung by the Augustana choir of Rock Island, Illinois, when it appears at the W. W. Oliver auditorium Thursday evening, embrace a wide variety of fine music. A light 16th century madrigal, a Negro spiritual, a Swedish folk song, a Bach chorale and several selections by contemporary composers are included in this season's program.

All numbers on the regular program, with the exception of Wagner's beautiful Kinderszenen, have never before been included in the Augustana choir repertoire. Tryggare kan ingen vara, a simple Swedish hymn, and Dawson's melodious There is a Balm in Gilead, both great favorites with all audiences, have been sung by the choir for several seasons and have again been retained for encore use.

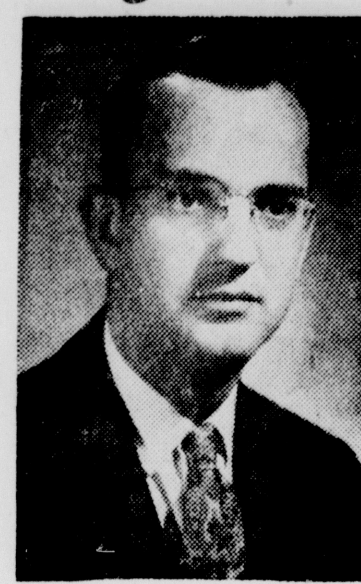

The full choir under the direction of its 1951 conductor, Brynolf Lundholm, opens the concert with a group of songs written by Heinrich Schutz, a 17th century composer who was an important forerunner of Bach, by Francis Poulenc, a contemporary French composer whose six part chorus is sung in Latin, and by Maurice Besby, another contemporary. All full choir singing is a cappella.

Jenny Lind Chorus The Jenny Lind Chorus, the women's section of the choir, sings Richard Strauss' ever popular Serenade, Opus 17, No. 2, in its group of songs, and is followed on the concert stage by the Wennerberg Chorus, the men's voices, who sing selections by Brahms and Bach. Ronald Jenson, assistant choir conductor and accompanist, will play the piano accompaniment for the single choruses.

The two choruses then join to sing the three movements of the great Brahms Motet, Opus 29, No. 2. Each movement is sung in turn by a five part chorus, a four part chorus, and then a six part chorus to conclude the first portion of the program.

Following intermission, full choir personnel take their places on the risers in a formation which has been used by the choir before only when singing for recording purposes. The men's and women's sections are intermingled, with men and women singers alternating positions along each of the four rows.

Series of Poems The concluding portion of the program consists of six selections, the first being a series of three poems set to music by Samuel Barber, one of the foremost contemporary composers. Children Don't Get Weary, a Negro spiritual arranged by William Henry Smith, a Swedish Carol, arranged by Regina H. Fryxell and Lady, When I Behold a madrigal composed by the English master, John Kilbye, are in this group. Franz Wagner's Kinderszenen, the German prayer for blessing upon a child, and Holy Art Thou, O Lord, by Regina H. Fryxell complete the program. Mrs. Fryxell, a graduate of Augustana college and an accomplished organist and composer, has dedicated this motet to Dr. Conrad Bergendoff, president of Augustana.

Neighbors Are The Best Critics

These statements will help you decide to hear the Augustana Choir Thursday, April 5, 8:15 p. m. at the Wm. W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium.

"In tonal blend, diction and interpretation the Augustana Choir excels. Certainly they are one of the outstanding choral groups in America today."

Mrs. Clara Garrard

"It is certainly a privilege for our community to hear this outstanding choral group. I enjoyed thoroughly the last concert four years ago when the Augustana Choir sang in Escanaba to a large and appreciative audience."

Helen Elaine Stenson

"Whether one knows music or not one can not help but get an uplift from the overtones of the 70 voices in the Augustana Choir. The sincerity of these young people, their enthusiasm, and perfect control, can be appreciated by all."

Movie Program Tuesday Night

Adult Education Course To Open

The first session in the new adult education service course will be held tomorrow evening at the William Oliver Memorial auditorium.

These sessions will be free and a large attendance is anticipated. The films to be shown Tuesday, April 3, have been chosen with great care by Vernon Ihlenfeldt, supervisor in charge of the adult program here.

The first film "Atomic Power" includes newsreel excerpts of the manufacture and use of the bomb; the Lillenthal and the Baruch reports; Einstein's part in the program and that of many leading scientists who participated; and the testing of the bomb on the New Mexico desert. This first picture will be in black and white.

The second film "Where Will You Hide?" is in color and presents a stirring appeal for individual and collective action to prevent another world war. Animated drawings describe in vivid color the horrors and destructions of future wars, and emphasize that there is no adequate defense against atomic warfare.

The third film "Pattern for

Editorials—

It's Time To Call A Halt In Paternalism Of State Gov't

INDICATIVE of the state encroachment into affairs of which the state reasonably and logically has no cause for intervention is House Bill 279, introduced in the Michigan legislature.

This bill purports to establish state regulation "for purpose of education in the painter and decorator industry." One section reserves to the local governing units the authority to adopt and enforce additional rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provision of the act or of the rules and regulations of the state department which would be created. Rural sections and cities less than 5,000 population are exempt from the provision of the act, but could come under the act by a majority vote of all members elect of the governing body.

Why the state of Michigan, already overburdened with financial woes, should now find it necessary to establish a new department to regulate the education of painters, decorators, paper hangers, etc., is difficult to understand.

If the state encroachment into these purely local affairs continues, the time may not be far away when the state will have agencies to regulate street cleaners, hod carriers, grocery clerks, etc.

Public welfare may justify the regulation of industries and trades involving public health, such as plumbers, barbers, doctors and allied trades and professions, but we fail to see the need for regulating painter education. If any local situation actually requires regulation, it can be accomplished more efficiently at the local, community level.

The paternalism of state government is growing beyond all bounds of reason and common sense. It is time to call a halt.

Surplus Indicated In Federal Finances

WITH only three months of the present fiscal year remaining, it appears that the federal government will show a surplus for the 1950-51 year ending June 30. Present estimates indicate a surplus of $2,700,000,000, the second largest in the nation's history.

If the nation does finish the fiscal year with a surplus, we will have some cause to cheer in view of the steady parade of annual deficits in the last 20 years. The nation did show a surplus in the 1949 fiscal year, but was right back in the red again last year.

The prospective surplus is encouraging particularly because only three months ago a deficit of about the same as the prospective surplus was predicted by President Truman. In three months time there has been a sharp improvement in the budget outlook.

A closer look at the cause of this change, however, may remove some of the glee. It is true that tax receipts have been much greater than anticipated and that is encouraging. But our expenditures have not been as great as expected only because deliveries on orders placed by the government have lagged. In other words, if all the deliveries of orders, particularly military supplies, had been made this year as anticipated, there would be no surplus but another deficit. Our expenditures have not been reduced by economies, but rather by the inability of manufacturers to meet delivery schedules.

The nation's financial problem has not really been solved but only postponed.

FORSYTHIA

No matter how cantankerous the weather as year draws on toward early spring, the forsythia reassures us. The bright yellow, scentless flowers reflect the gold of the sun if it be a blue-sky day. The forsythia is one of the blossoming shrubs that thrives in almost any location and atmospheric condition. It attracts very few insects and is nearly free of diseases. The blossoms open before the leaves begin unfolding; in most species the leaves are sufficiently different so one species can be told from another.

Few people know about William Forsyth; he is not mentioned in the encyclopedias and biographical dictionaries. He was born near Aberdeen, Scotland, in 1737, became superintendent of the royal gardens of Kensington in 1784, and published several books on horticulture. No one knows whether he went to China for the golden shrub which bears his name or whether he arranged for its introduction into Europe. It does not matter. Now in early spring the appealing flowers are opening golden hearts with golden-bell anthers and stocky pistils that resemble an elongated green gum drop.

A tragic sight to a garden lover is the way thoughtless persons hack, mutilate and ruthlessly prune this free-branching shrub. Forsythia is meant by nature to grow freely, with branches a bit scraggly and of varying lengths. A forsythia needs at least 10 feet of space, diameter and height, to fulfill its potential beauty. If you have never studied the buds, blossoms and twigs, take time this spring to discover the soft colorings and exquisite shadings. You will see tiny leaves just starting when the flowers are fully opened. The twigs are a symphony of browns to the eye, but under a lens are unusual combinations of purples, violets, light blues and glowing deep maroons. Perhaps you have a few branches opening in a vase in the living room right now. We are grateful for the Oriental plant that gives beauty so generously in northern climes. Its loveliness is reason enough for its being; but in addition, when the forsythias' gold shows along the garden wall, we know year is knocking at the door of a new season.—By Haydn Pearson.

By the same token, a man living in Russia or a Soviet satellite should not be stigmatized forever as a Communist when he has the great courage to escape those slave lands and make his way to the free West. He is exhibiting the very qualities that make him the best anti-Communist in the world.

Some nations have done quite a lot more than we toward accepting displaced persons who were refugees from the Hitler-Mussolini regimes. But for the most part, these people are no longer the greatest problem. It is the refugees from behind the Iron Curtain who today pose the real dilemma.

Daily they pour into the western zones of Germany and Austria in their flight from Communist terror. Long since they have imposed a heavy burden upon the economies of those nations directly in their path. Most cannot find work, or adequate housing.

It is clear that the United States or any one country cannot take all these people, nor is any responsible official suggesting we should. Yet it is equally evident that the free world is wasting a great resource if it does not somehow work out a plan for the useful integration of these refugees into the western fabric of life.

Born Too Late

By Gordon Martin

There's a glamor in the years gone by, we always like to think, and a toast to all the "good old days" we very often drink. It is just too bad, we tell ourselves, we weren't living then, when a world of wealth and much romance was beckoning to men. We're convinced that we were born too late to know a world so gay, and that people had a lot more fun in some departed day.

For example, youngsters sometimes think the world was in its prime, when the Gay Old Nineties guaranteed to all a lovely time. Diamonds made by sudden fortune, every sort of social whirl, when it took a lot of lady to become a chorus girl; all the plush and all the gold that showed a man could have some luck, and could spend it, knowing well a buck would still be worth a buck.

But in looking back on history, we see but just the best, even though it was champagne for few and beer for all the rest. While we sometimes say the present for the past we'd like to trade, we would not give up the progress that the march of time has made. We may think about the "good old days," so full of fun and play, but a hundred years from now they'll say the same about today.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—One trouble with holding down prices is that some officials inside the Office of Price Stabilization seem more interested in upping prices than in preventing inflation.

Here's an example of the public-behaved behavior of certain officials which occurred at a recent closed-door meeting between price official Charles W. Carvin and representatives of the woolen industry.

This meeting, like most of the important price-control meetings held in Washington, had no spokesman for the consumer. The group consisted entirely of wool manufacturers—with the exception of Charles Carvin, the government's man. Carvin, however, is not exactly a friend of the consumer, having spent most of his life in the textile industry and currently is on leave from his own large New York textile firm, Charles W. Carvin Co.

During their meeting Carvin and the wool manufacturers discussed the question of how much of a price increase the manufacturers should get, and Carvin astonished the group with this advice:

"Go see Mike Di Salle (OPS administrator). Make him give you a decent increase. With all those demands coming in from the army for woolen uniforms, he can't turn you down on that price increase. You've got Mike over a barrel."

Carvin is supposed to protect the consumer, prevent inflation. That is the job for which OPS was created. However, as the meeting ended Carvin further advised the wool manufacturers to talk to Robert O. Huffman, his immediate superior.

"Huffman's a straight thinker on prices," advised Carvin. "Huffman's no administration man, no New Dealer."

WAR PESSIMISM

Secretary of Defense Marshall hinted in a public statement last week that he was a little more worried than previously about the Soviet's warlike intentions.

Inside reason for this worry is an intelligence estimate indicating that Russia "probably" will not go to war this year because it lacks the resources and its fears of the atomic bomb. However, the analysis also warns there is a small group within the politburo talking of a "preventive war."

Reasoning of this clique is: If Russia waits more than two years, the Western Allies will be so strong that a war for Russia would be suicide. It points out the growing strength of the West, the revolts spreading across Eastern Europe, and unrest in Russia itself. Therefore it is argued by extremist leaders in the Kremlin that war is the best way to maintain Soviet domination over Eastern Europe and China.

It is believed, however, that this view is not held by Stalin, nor by Molotov, his likely successor. They are understood to believe that capitalism will fall of its own weight, aided by inflation and corruption.

WISE MR. WILSON

The television audience missed a treat, but Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson was wise when he banned TV cameras at last week's press conference.

Asked by a newsmen in the course of the conference whether he had sold his stock in General Electric, the company which he once headed, Wilson shook his finger at the reporter.

"If I had known these controversial questions would be asked..." he exploded, implying that if so he would not have agreed to the press conference—only his second during four months in Washington.

Noting the mobilizer's angry brick-red face, a television man sighed: "Brother what a shot that would make on color TV."

Note—Wilson has given real impetus to defense production, though in the course of doing so, small, independent business has taken a worse beating than in World War II.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

A lot of good men are getting into government you never hear about—at salary sacrifices. One of the latest: Thurman L. Bernard, who took an 85 per cent cut from advertising Ivory soap to help with state department propaganda. . . . It was New Hampshire's Sen. Styles Bridges who went to bat for Democratic Senator Kefauver's crime committee in the secrecy of the GOP policy committee.

Men and Families of B-36 'Atom Bomb' Crew Live Unique Life for Defense

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

CARSWELL AIR FORCE BASE, Tex.—(NEA)—Let's eavesdrop on the unusual lives of 13 men who fly a B-36. The whole existence of this crew is keyed to the instant that World War III starts. Yet their very existence is starting it off.

The crew will get a chuckle when they read those words. They don't quite look at it that way. Take Sgt. Gerald W. Wieman from Tomah, Wis., 24, tall, good-looking and easy-going. He's a gunner and was recalled to duty after the Korean war began. He says:

"It's just an interesting kind of job to me. I guess we would take off to drop the bomb on Russia right away if war should come. But that's really the last thing any of us worry about."

The other 12 say just about the same thing.

Only 15 days a year, all at the same time, can any B-36 crew shed the heavy mantle of its primary mission: to provide instant retaliation if America is attacked.

They can never be more than one hour's driving distance from their airplane. That means 350 days each year confined to the base, nearby Fort Worth or Mayaguez, Texas, if they make special plans. Most of the crew we've chosen for this closeup have been a unit for about a year and a half and know what this means to their lives and the lives of their families.

First Lt. Earl C. Hayden, flight engineer from Tyler, Tex., says:

"You don't chafe under those restrictions. You know you've got to stay close and you just get used to it. There's plenty to do on and off work and you don't even think about it."

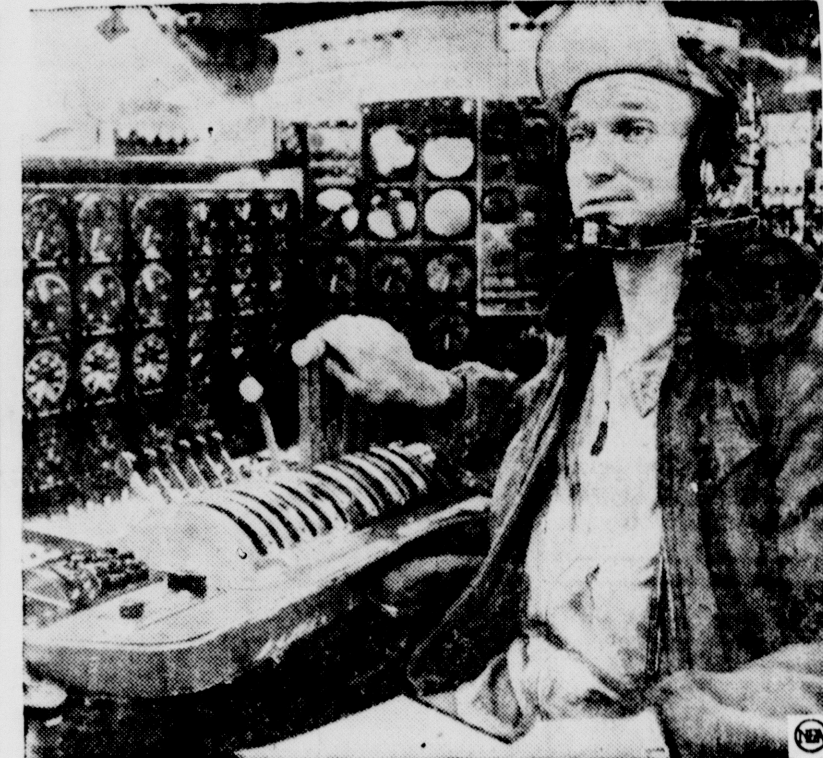

Hayden, 37, is the oldest member of the crew. He was an enlisted man in World War II and served in Alaska. He and his petite wife, Maxine, have two children. They live in a cozy house in a government project just off the base. Mrs. Hayden has this to say about the life:

"I have a premonition about Earl that he'll always come home safely. It may sound funny but I never worry when he's up, unless we hear there's an accident. Then I bother the tower a little until his plane is down. But it's no different than the life of any other service wife. You're busy with the kids. And there's always something going on in the post."

Lt. Gen. Curtis LeMay, famed boss of the Strategic Air Command, has ordered that each B-36 crew live and fly together as a unit, completely adjusted to each other's personality quirks. He believes that will make them completely confident in each other's ability to do his job. The wives and families are part of this unique way of life.

The wives of our sample crew have an organization known as the "flying hens." They bowl together. They've organized a nursery on the base. They have bridge parties together and organize group entertainment for their husbands. Husband's rank means nothing. A sergeant's wife is captain of the bowling team and runs it with an iron hand.

Key man in the organization is the "AC," the airplane commander. He is Maj. Roy P. Showalter, Jr., 32, a native of Chicago, holder of the DFC, the air medal with two clusters and a half-dozen other awards. His service record includes four years as an enlisted man. During the last war he served in the Pacific.

NERVE CENTER OF B-36's complicated machinery is the engineer's control station. Here Flight Engineer Weldon, hand on the throttles, tells the plane commander he's ready to go.

"He's just hot," is the way his crew describes him. They claim his name is close to the top of "Gen. LeMay's little black book of the best AC's."

He's moderately tall and good-natured. He can do the job of any crewman, including that of pilot. But his chief assignment is keeping them all working together smoothly. He has the rare quality of outstanding leadership. He and his wife and 7-year-old son have a house on the base and live just about the same kind of life that the rest of the crew and families do.

Most of it is centered around the base, movies, bridge, an occasional crew beer-bust. The crewmen have a hot golf team which is as good as any on the base.

Keeping 13 men living and working together like this is no chance business. Each man gets a careful psychological screening before getting assigned to a crew. Then he's got to make the grade under pressure. Last item of business after each long training mission is a bull session on how it went. Not long ago a member was accused by several others of griping too much on flights. He was transferred to other duty.

Each member of Showalter's crew is convinced that each other member does his job better than the way it is done on any other crew. Quite naturally they think the pilot, 1st Lt. James H. Seeley, 32, of Riverside, Calif., is "plenty hot."

"If he were at the controls I'd be willing to try to fly a destroyer," is one of the remarks.

Seeley claims it's just as easy to fly a B-36 as any other plane, as soon as you get what he calls "size" perception. His attractive wife has a special concern about her pilot-husband. "I actually worry more about him racing home from the field on his motor scooter through the heavy traffic than I do about him on missions,"

WORD PICTURES—The newspaper in your community records day-to-day events large and small that combine to make a moving and colorful story.

How important this record becomes through the passing years was revealed at a recent meeting of the Delta County Historical Society, when Charles L. Follo, a director of the Delta society and a trustee of the Michigan Historical Society, drew upon information in the first issue of the first newspaper published in Escanaba to present a program titled "Escanaba in 1869-70."

Official records provide factual information. The newspaper does more. Its stories concern the people of the community, what they do and say, how they dress, and think and act.

PRICELESS RECORD—The value of the newspaper as a record of events is recognized by those who know and love books. For that reason you will find in Escanaba and most communities bound volumes of newspapers on file in your local library.

Carnegie Public Library in Escanaba has all of the existing files of newspapers ever published in the community, and to these adds bound volumes of the Escanaba Daily Press.

The first issue of the first newspaper in Escanaba was published Dec. 9, 1869. It was the Escanaba Tribune, published by E. P. Lott. It was from the early files of the Escanaba Tribune that Charles Follo gleaned his information for a word picture of the community.

During his talk he referred to the newspaper itself. In closing the volume the pages became wrinkled. Mrs. Nancy Thomas, Carnegie Public Library librarian, a member and former secretary of the Historical Society, carefully straightened the pages between the covers.

If they had remained wrinkled the paper would weaken at the crease and the page might break the next time the volume was opened. Those copies of the Escanaba Tribune are now 82 years old.

STILL EARLIER—John Crozer was assistant to E. P. Lott, publisher of the Escanaba Tribune. Crozer later took over the newspaper.

At the mention of Crozer's name, Dave Coon, a member of the Delta County Historical Society, drew from a folder he had with him a copy of still an earlier newspaper—the Lake Superior Miner, published at Ontonagon in 1857.

Crozer and a man named Emerson were publishers of the paper at Ontonagon, then a community of great importance in Northern Michigan because of the excitement over the "copper strike."

WHAT'S IN A NAME—At the time Crozer was in Ontonagon (some 12 years before he came to Escanaba) copper was the king of Northern Michigan metals.

Iron was to make a slower development in economic importance. With that development Escanaba's fortunes boomed, for it became the southern terminal of the Peninsula Railroad running from Ishpeming. Iron ore was shipped here by rail. Docks were built to load the sailing ships in the fine harbor.

A traveler coming to Escanaba in 1869 wrote a letter to his brother, describing the town, then only six years old.

The name Escanaba, he emphatically reported, means "Sand Point, nothing more, and that is what it is."

To this day the name is shrouded in controversy, however, for other attributed meanings include "flat rock," and "land of the red buck." The name originally is from the Indian.

SOCIAL STRATA—Of the town's two hotels the Tilden House was recognized as sumptuous for the times.

Mrs. Paul Rademacher, history society director, recalled hearing her mother say there really was little class consciousness in the community. But the phrase "They stayed at the Tilden House," revealed a significant affluence if nothing more.

Tag ends of the tribes of noble Red Man still inhabited the Sand Point area, their old camp ground. Undoubtedly they were at the bottom of the social ladder in those days, for the Delta county board of supervisors decided the Indians couldn't hold their drinks and posted a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest of anyone supplying them with liquor.

OFFICE LATIN

In several previous articles I have tried to point out the advantage of getting business letters out of the Middle Ages. In dictating business letters, many a hardheaded executive thinks he is in the groove, when he is really in a rut.

Office Latin is a carry-over from the dead, dead days of elegance and grace, when letters were leisurely written in Spencerian cursive, and when there was time to compose scholarly and highfalutin commercial prose. But both the typewriter and the efficient stenographer are here to stay, and Latin, the dead language, should be allowed to rest in peace.

We should avoid such archaic clichés as: "As per your request." Per is Latin for "through; by means of; by." Hence, "as per" is nonsense. Such expressions as "per diem, per annum, miles per hour" are better usage when put into English. Say: Five dollars a day; ten thousand dollars a year; one hundred miles an hour.

"Viz," is the abbreviation for videlicet, "it is plain to see." The English "namely," is a better and more accurate word.

"Instant, ultimo, proximo" really belong in the catacombs. Instead of "your favor of the 13th inst.," say: Your letter of April 3, 1951 (or whatever the correct date is).

"In re" does not mean "with reference to." Re is the ablative of the Latin res, "a thing."

The effect of noises on nerves of girl typists was tested by a scientist. How about testing the effect of gum-cracking on the boss?

Muzzling of La Prensa Hard Blow To Freedom

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON — The liquidation of La Prensa is a blow to the freedoms of which this hemisphere was founded. There is a kind of dark shame in the news that the pictures of Dictator Peron and Evita hang in the building that once was dedicated to the search for truth.

It is not just that one newspaper happens to have been destroyed. As symbol, as example, as ominous precedent, it has a meaning that we in the United States cannot ignore. Nor can we consider this merely the aberration of a clique that has temporarily seized power in one of the Latin-American republics.

La Prensa's distinction, its capacity for honest reporting and the expression of forthright opinion rested on the right of the individual to express an independent point of view; independent, that is, of state, of church, of trade union, of any group or combination however powerful. Once that right goes, then everything goes with it and even so successful and effective an institution as a great newspaper like La Prensa comes toppling down.

Perils Free Society
What the dictator is destroying in Argentina is the fundamental assumption of a free society. This is in the pattern of the totalitarianism of the old world, of Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia, which has cast such a blight on large areas of the earth.

The foreign ministers of the American republics now in conference here are apparently determined to keep away from this unhappy subject. In any event, there seems to be little they could do about it short of creating a split that could jeopardize the plans for the joint defense of the hemisphere. And, in my opinion, for the government of the United States to try to intervene would be to do more harm than good. That might well strengthen Peron who could pose as a martyr attacked by the colossus of the north.

What the warning of La Prensa can do is to reawaken not alone in the United States but throughout the hemisphere a new and urgent sense of how vital to the whole organization of our society is the right of independent opinion and its expression. This matter stands somewhat on the same footing as the call for a moral awakening in response to the disclosures of graft and corruption in one community after another in this country. If it does not come, then there is comparatively little that can be done with laws and the police.

Poor Attitude Here
It is easy—too easy—for us here in the United States to strike an attitude of smug self-righteousness about what has happened in Argentina. That attitude is in itself a danger since it shuts out of view signs that point in the same general direction.

Far too many politicians right here at home are getting the idea that "if you aren't for me, then you must be against me and therefore ought to be a law." Sometimes the mere printing of news, of fact, is taken as evidence of partisanship and therefore resented. A prominent officeholder recently in a private conversation with a reporter gave vent to indignation over the threatment he had received in the reporter's paper.

"And what's more," he added, "your paper printed stories about our candidate's stand on civil rights and that might have hurt him and you knew it."

Right To Print News
This illustrates a shocking lack of understanding of the right of an independent newspaper to print all the news. When merely to print the news is taken as a sign of favor or disfavor, then we have come a long way from the concept of a free press as it was fostered in the great days of the republic's beginning.

Huey Long in his wild career sought to bring the New Orleans papers under his thumb. It is one of the first moves of any man bent on dictatorial power. More recently Governor Herman Tamm pushed for the adoption by the Georgia legislature of bills that would have put the Atlanta papers in jeopardy.

Last fall Senator Joseph McCarthy in a speech before a Republican club in Milwaukee urged his listeners to boycott any advertiser placing an advertisement with the Milwaukee Journal. It should be clear to everyone that this is almost identical with the Peron approach. The Argentine dictator used the impossible demands of a kept trade union to destroy La Prensa. That McCarthy's appeal had little or no effect is seen in the fact that the Journal last year had the highest advertising lineage any paper ever carried and at the same time established new circulation records.

But so was La Prensa once a rich and powerful institution. The will to destroy freedom must be met with the will to preserve it. Otherwise not even the strongest isolated institution or individual can survive.

Prepare Your Children To Face Misjudgement

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

If we are old enough to have children, we are old enough to know that the world is going to misjudge them.

The misjudging world won't be as patient as we are with the truth behind young impulse.

Are you preparing your child to deal with the world's misjudgment? Does he know how to defend himself without words?

He should know. He should know that though truth is the right thing, it must be timed wisely to the occasion.

A young girl who had learned that took her first job away from home. She had held it two weeks when she was falsely accused of misfiling an important letter. The office was in an uproar.

Instead of demanding an immediate hearing on her innocence, she chose to go quietly about the search for the missing letter. Three days later, when it was found in her employer's brief case, she was promoted to a secretarial position.

"We liked the way you kept your poise," she was told.

That promotion was won because a child had been taught that truth has such power that it does no always need words to express it.

Truth Is Your Child's Identity

The child who is taught to trust his own truth about what he does will not be confused by misjudgment.

He will not feel compelled to call for an immediate retraction from a harassed teacher who charges him with cheating. He will be quite willing to wait for a more convenient time to explain he had leaned over his neighbor's shoulder to borrow an eraser. He will be able to tell her in a manner that will convince her she was wrong.

The truth of what your child feels, thinks and does is his identity. He should know how to resist the false identity of misjudgment. If he doesn't know how to resist it, he may begin to wonder who and what he really is.

Teach him to stand by his truth, without words or with them.

Today's recipe, for a delicious apple crisp, comes from Mrs. W. R. Lape of Gulliver.

Apple Crisp

Place 5 or 6 cups diced or sliced pared apples in a 6 by 10 inch baking dish. Mix together the following ingredients with a fork until crumbly and then sprinkle over apples:

- One cup sifted flour
 - One and one-half cups sugar
 - One teaspoon baking powder
 - Three-fourths teaspoon salt
 - One unbleached egg
- Over the entire mixture pour one-third cup melted and cooled butter or oleo. Sprinkle with one-half teaspoon cinnamon. Bake 30 to 40 minutes in moderate oven, 350. Serve warm with cream.

Mary Ann Chroge Becomes Bride Of Walter J. Marcella

All Saints Church, its altars beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and tall lighted tapers, formed the setting for the marriage on Thursday of Miss Mary Ann Chroge, and Walter John Marcella. Rev. Fr. Charles J. Reinhart was celebrant of the nine o'clock nuptial High Mass.

The Mass in Honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary was sung by the student choir under the direction of the Sisters. Caesar Franck's "Panis Angelicus" was sung at the Offertory. Rossini's arrangement of the Wedding March was used as the Processional and an Organ solo, "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," was played as the bridal party and guests were leaving the church.

Mary Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chroge, 1303 Delta Avenue, City, and Walter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marcella, Cornell, Mich.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father who gave her in marriage. She chose traditional white satin for her wedding gown which was fashioned with a full skirt extending into a court train. The tightly fitted bodice came to a point at the waistline and the illusion net yoke was outlined with three rows of lace ruffles forming a Bertha collar around the shoulders. Tiny satin covered buttons extended from the neck to hipline in back, and the long sleeves were fastened from elbow to wrist with tiny satin covered buttons and lace ruffles at the wrist formed points over the hands. Her three quarter length veil, edged with sweetheart lace ruffles was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She wore a double strand of pearls, her bridegroom's gift, and carried a sheaf of Calla lilies tied with a cascade bow of white lace.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Nelson of Roscoe, Ill., sister of the groom, wore a pale green embroidered organza over taffeta gown styled with a fitted bodice, peter pan collar and full skirt. With it, she wore a pale green net open crown bonnet with a double net ruffle edging the sweetheart brim. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow jonquils, pale pink and white tulips on a frame of pale green net tied with a cascade bow of rainbow colored ribbon.

Mr. Leon M. Methot, uncle of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Chroge chose a navy blue faille two piece suit dress with grey and navy accessories complemented by a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was attired in a navy blue crepe dress with a matching jacket and black accessories. Red roses formed her corsage.

The wedding breakfast, reception and supper were held at the John Marcella home in Cornell. The house was decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. The three tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom standing under an arch of wedding bells centered the table. Tall lighted tapers in silver holders were placed at either side.

The newlyweds left on a motor trip to an undisclosed destination, and the bride wore a beige suit with brown accessories as her going away outfit. A corsage of red roses was pinned to her shoulder.

Upon their return they will make their home in Cornell where the groom is engaged in farming.

The bride attended All Saints grade school and graduated from Gladstone High school with the class of 1948. She attended St. Anthony's Hospital School of Nursing at Rockford, Ill., for two years and prior to her marriage was employed at St. Francis hospital and private nursing. The groom attended All Saints school and Escanaba High school and was a veteran of World War II, serving in the Philippine theatre. After returning from service, he attended Catherine Bonifas Technical school in Escanaba and is now employed by the Michigan Potato Growers Exchange.

Guests for the wedding were, Rev. Charles J. Reinhart, Nahma, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson, son Robert and daughter Sharon, Roscoe, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Methot, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Methot, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Methot, Munising, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. George Methot, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Methot, Wetsmore, Mich., Matt Marcella, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gagner, Escanaba, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Wolfe, sr., Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Pajnick and William, Ensign, Miss Virginia Cobb, Stonington, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gagner, Kipling, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Malnor, Traunik, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chroge, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rhode and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Young, Groos, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wolfe, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kinkella, Gladstone and Mr. and Mrs. John Solis and Walter, Route one, Gladstone.

Writers Give Wrong Picture Of Old Time Woodsmen, Crowe Says

(Editor's note: This is the first of a new series of articles by W. S. Crowe dealing with the early history and life of Manistique and Schoolcraft county. A similar series was published about a year ago in the Press.)

By W. S. Crowe
A fantastic and unrealistic portrayal of life in the Michigan pine lumber days in some recent literature gives this generation a greatly distorted picture of those times.

The old time lumberjacks are pictured as a red-eyed, hell-roarin', rough and tumble fighting gang, jumping on opponents' faces with calked boots, and who, thinking only of whiskey and women, "took the town apart" when they came down out of the woods; and we are told that decent women kept off the streets when the lumberjacks hit town.

And the camp boss had to be a tough, high rollin' "Bull-o-the-Woods" able to lick any bully in camp in order to maintain his authority.

It wasn't like that. Part of my job as bookkeeper was to keep the payrolls and settle with the lumberjacks when the camps broke up. This was during the seven-year period from 1893 to 1900 when the industry was operating at peak load in northern Michigan and the C. L. and the W. L. Co.'s were cutting approximately 100 million feet of white pine and norway every year and employing about 1500 men, including loggers, jobbers and farmers who "put in some stuff" for the "Chicago" company every year.

The C. L. company and West-on Lumber company (same stockholders) owned at this time nearly all of Schoolcraft county, and parts of Delta and Mackinac counties, and all of Manistique except the wooden saloons in the "flat iron" block on Pearl street, and the courthouse, schools and churches, and six or seven small stores on Cedar and Oak streets.

I knew all the camp foremen very well, and most of the lumberjacks by face and name, and was well acquainted with many of them. They were mostly young men who worked in the woods in winter, and in the mills and yards, or on the river drives, in summer, saved more or less of their wages, eventually got married and settled down. Marquette Is Shoot Winner

Takes Top Place In Pistol Event Friday

A pistol team from Marquette, scoring 1,078 points out of a possible 1,200, took first place in the Manistique Rifle and Pistol club pistol shoot here Friday night.

Second place was taken by a Manistique team with 1,050 points, Gladstone took third with 1,024 points, and a second Marquette team was fourth with 997 points.

High individual score was made by Max Muelle, of Marquette, who made 283 out of a possible 300 points in three classes of fire—slow fire, rapid fire and fire at will. In slow fire Muelle scored 99, one point short of a "perfect mark."

Sgt. N. H. Modders, of Manistique and Joseph Svoke, of Gladstone, tied for second individual scoring honors with 277 each.

Personnel of the four top teams follows:

Marquette: Max Muelle, Wayne Schwenke, Eldred Greenway and Thor Person.

Manistique: Perry Hollenbeck, E. J. Doyle, Ole Johnson and N. H. Modders.

Gladstone: Torval Kallerson, Joseph Svoke, Carl Johnson and William Shideler.

Marquette: George Strong, G. A. Peterson, Ed Goldsworthy and Norrick.

Individual marksmen who scored 260 or more were:

Max Muelle, Marquette, 283; N. H. Modders, Manistique, 277; Joseph Svoke, Gladstone, 277; G. A. Peterson, Marquette, 272; Eldred Greenway, Marquette, 272; George Strong, Marquette, 271; Ole Johnson, Manistique, 270; William Shideler, Gladstone, 270; J. Corcoran, Escanaba, 269; Jerry Nixon, Sault Ste. Marie, 264; Larry Brumell, Sault Ste. Marie, 263; Thor Person, Marquette, 260.

Ten teams took part in the shoot, held at the National Guard armory—five from Manistique, two from Marquette, one from Escanaba, one from Gladstone and one from Sault Ste. Marie.

LaSalle, Mich., Man Leaves Home, Faces Indiana Prison Term

RICHMOND, Ind.—(AP)—A 29-year-old man who left his LaSalle, Mich., home because of family trouble faces a 10-year term in the Indiana State reformatory at Pendleton.

Robert J. Beck pleaded guilty to a charge of auto banditry and was sentenced by Circuit Judge G. H. Hoelscher.

Beck was arrested in the vain holdup of a downtown theater here last Thursday night. Theater manager James Chandler refused to open the safe.

A detainer also has been filed against Beck at Springfield, O., charging him with robbery and felonious assault in the slugging of a woman clerk in a loan company there. Police said Beck admitted attacking the woman, now in serious condition in a Springfield hospital, and stealing the gun that he used for the theater holdup here.

Neighbors Are The Best Critics

These statements will help you decide to hear the Augustana Choir, Thursday, April 5, 8:15 p. m. at the Wm. W. Oliver Memorial auditorium.

"Manistique has always had a large group of people driving to Escanaba for the Augustana Choir Concert. We have never returned with any comment but praise. Last year the price of the concert in New York, Boston, and Philadelphia was more than double what we pay and people had to drive through heavy traffic to get to hear them."

Mrs. Carl Wedell

"The Augustana Choir ranks among the highest in choral singing groups of America. At times they sound like a cathedral organ; no one can hear their music without being inspired. I recommend them most highly."

Rev. G. A. Herbert

Concert admission is $1 plus tax and rental of 25c, or $1.25. Student tickets at the door only 75c, including tax. Buy tickets from the above people, or from Lakeside Grocery. Augustana Choir has sung to capacity audiences in Escanaba five consecutive times.

GOOD RIGHT ARM—A new electrically operated arm, driven by a tiny motor controlled by the amputee's toes in a specially designed shoe, is being put into mass production. With the device, the armless can answer phones, write in longhand, squeeze toothpaste tubes, all without fumbling. The inset shows the complex workings of the hand which, in actual use, is covered with a special life-like plastic "skin."

Forensic Team Selected Here

Local Contest Is Held Friday

Manistique high school's forensic team for the district contest in Newberry, to be held either April 8 or 9, was announced by Marvin Frederickson, speech director, following a local contest Friday evening in the high school auditorium.

Winners in oratorical declamation at the local contest were Nick Babladelis with the subject, "We Fought Two Wars", and Carol Martinson on the subject, "Give Us To See".

In original oratory winners were Joyce Martinson, with "Awake, America", and Laura Pizzala whose topic was "United We Stand—Divided We Fall".

Other members of the forensic team will be William Corson in extemporaneous speaking and Anne McGlothlin and Margo Viergever in dramatic declamation. These students were the only entries in these two divisions, and it was unnecessary for them to take part in the local elimination contest.

Winners in the junior high school contest, conducted in conjunction with the senior meet Friday night, were Bethann Vier-

Extend Drive For Red Cross

Collections Lag Throughout Nation

The Red Cross roll call, which was to end Saturday, March 31, has been extended another two weeks, it is announced by Mrs. L. E. Wilson, local campaign director.

The extension is nation-wide and was announced last week in an effort to meet or exceed the 1951 quota. Collections have been lagging, not only in Schoolcraft county, but throughout the nation, Mrs. Wilson said.

Another rally meeting is slated for tonight at the First Baptist church, preceded by a 6 o'clock pot luck dinner, the roll call chairman reported. The program will include a playlet, "Trials and Tribulations of a Red Cross Solicitor" directed by Mrs. Franklyn Burgess, with members the soliciting team taking part in the cast.

Contrary to rumors, Mrs. Wilson said, the salary of the national Red Cross president is not $50,000 or more annually but $22,500. The president, Ronald Harriman, has not accepted a cent of this salary, however, she said.

Star-Studded Boxing Card At Manistique Gymnasium Tonight

Writers Name Class E Team Two Michigamme Players Picked

Two members of Michigamme's Class E state championship squad won places on the Upper Peninsula Class E all star team selected Saturday at the meeting of the U. P. Sports Writers association at Marquette.

The Class E team follows: Forest Perry, Michigamme, center; John Hicks, Trenary, and Orville Larscheid, Nahma, forwards; Bob Ball, Alpha, and Phil Numinen, Michigamme, guards.

Players named for honorable mention include: Skibo, Alpha; Thibault and Sochay, Nahma; Anderson, Channing; Poquette and Lohf, Hermansville; Eisele, Marquette, and Hill, Trenary.

The Class D U. P. team will be announced Tuesday, the Class B team Wednesday and the Class C and all U. P. team on Thursday.

The sports writers accepted responsibility for handling the ballots to select annually the Coach of the Year in Upper Peninsula football and in Upper Peninsula basketball. The Gladstone Rotary club annually fetes the football coach of the year and the Gladstone Lions club honors the basketball coach of the year.

The sports writers voted, 5 to 3, to recommend to the U. P. athletic council that basketball tournaments be conducted at neutral centers. Dissenting votes were cast by sports writers of Gladstone, Iron Mountain and Negaunee.

The association voted a life membership to Gene Short of Marquette, dean of Upper Peninsula sports writers.

Jim Ripley, of Menominee, invited the association to hold its fall meeting at Menominee and the invitation was accepted by the writers.

Attending the meeting, held at the Northland hotel, were Glenn Gregg, Sco News; Bob Biolo, Jim Thretheway and Ken Lowe, Marquette; Rev. Fr. Spelgatti, Sunday Visitor, Marquette; Tom Pellow, Negaunee; Gene Maki, Wakefield; Buck Erickson, Iron Mountain; Ray Crandall, Iron River; George Mathieson, Gladstone; and Jim Ripley, Menominee. Charles Larson, Escanaba, is ill and was unable to attend the meeting.

Central League Meets Tuesday Program Will Be Held At Nahma

The Central League will hold its basketball dinner meeting Tuesday night at the Nahma clubhouse, with C. V. Money of Marquette the guest speaker.

Rev. Rinehart of Nahma will give the invocation and after the dinner, Coach Mankiewicz, of Rock, league president, will welcome the coaches and guests, and will introduce the speaker, Mr. Money.

The league basketball trophy will be presented to Nahma and the all league team will be announced.

There will be a dance after the banquet program.

A number of Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves champions will be in action on the card, including Francis Selling, Jerry Dufour, and Wayne Tufnell of Manistique, John Sutter of Gladstone, and Ronnie Magnuson of Escanaba.

The feature bout of the evening will match Selling, Manistique favorite, against Alex Betsinger, hard hitting Menominee welterweight.

George Grenholm of Escanaba will referee the bouts and judges will be John Haindl, Cooks; Ben Woods and Bill Heinz, Manistique.

The pairings follow: Francis Selling, Manistique vs. Alex Betsinger, Marinette. Wayne Tufnell, Manistique vs. Jacob Hewitt, Escanaba. Paul Crawford, Manistique vs. John Sutter, Gladstone. Dallas Knecht, Gladstone vs. Cletus Chartier, Manistique. Jerry Dufour, Manistique vs. Gene Theriault, Marinette. Lawrence Aldrich, Manistique vs. Don Schinjeck, Marinette. Fred Schneider, Manistique vs. Clyde Schuette, Marinette. Richard Dufour, Manistique vs. Ronald Magnuson, Escanaba. Darryl Bertrand, Manistique vs. Geo. Raygo, Marinette. James Gould, Manistique vs. Duane Race, Marinette. Jack Quinn, Manistique vs. Louis Phalen, Marinette. Wm. Bellore, Manistique vs. Orville Erickson, Manistique.

Training Camp Briefs

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — The Cleveland Indians looked to two newly acquired 31-year-old veterans today to fill their need for reserve infield strength.

For Freddie Marsh, a 27-year-old rookie infielder, and a wad of cash that may have been near $50,000, the Tribe yesterday acquired second baseman George (Snuffy) Stirmweiss and shortstop Merrill Combs from the St. Louis Browns.

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, advised of the deal after his team took an 8-5 trouncing from the Chicago Cubs, said:

"It's a good deal. We need utility infielders pretty bad, and we got 'em. I think they'll help us a lot."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, was enroute to St. Louis today, satisfied his club will stack up with the rest on opening day.

He admitted, however, that he has a problem in the outfield.

"If we can get a center fielder we can go all the way," he said. "But we're going to surprise people. All these clubs have their problems."

Center is still Stan Musial's place but Saigh wants someone who can beat Stan's throwing and maybe be half as effective at the plate.

AUSTIN, Tex. — (AP) — Hank Majeski, the White Sox third baseman, has rejoined the team after being benched.

Majeski was hit in the head by Tom Morgan of the New York Yankees Tuesday. He was wearing a protective cap and suffered only shock.

Manager Paul Richards has advised him to stay out of uniform for a while.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(AP)—Thirty-three year old John Bernardino, erstwhile movie player, got four hits in five trips to the plate for the St. Louis Browns in an exhibition game yesterday that boosted his batting average for the Grapefruit league season to .500.

Two Purdue Relays Records Hung Up By Illinois And Beloit

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(AP)—Illinois and Beloit held two new Purdue relay records.

Illinois' Don Laz pole vaulted 14 feet, 2 1/2 inches Saturday for one of the new marks, 5-8 inch better than his own previous mark for the meet. Beloit set a 3:36.3 mark in the college sprint medley relay, topping Grinnell's 3:37 of last year.

Illinois took the greatest share of first-place trophies by winning four events. Team standings are not kept in the meet.

A new American indoor record was spoiled when the University of Michigan's 240-yard shuttle hurdle relay team was disqualified after being timed at 29.6 seconds; one runner left his starting blocks too soon. The American indoor record is 30.1 seconds, set

Replacing Ortman, Koceski And Dufek Oosterbaan Problem

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—The problem of replacing such Michigan football stars as Chuck Ortman, Leo Koceski and Don Dufek becomes a real problem here today for Coach Bennie Oosterbaan.

The Michigan coach will be greeting about 125 candidates at the opening of the six weeks spring practice session.

The Ortman - Dufek - Koceski threesome was instrumental in guiding Michigan to the Western Conference championship and the second Wolverine Rose Bowl victory in four years. They're due to be graduated this June.

Others Missed

And they're not the only ones that will be missed. Besides that trio of backfield stars, Oosterbaan will be looking for men to fill the shoes of such talented performers as Tackle-Capt. Al Wahl, Ends Harry Allis and Ozzie Clark and Center Tony Momen and Carl Kreeger.

"We face problems at almost every position but particularly in the backfield and at center," was Oosterbaan's summation.

The Michigan coach has three sources for solving those problems: Last year's freshman crop, returning veterans and freshmen recently made eligible under a new Western conference ruling.

As for the freshmen, the Michigan coach points out "nobody knows as yet who will report or how good they really are."

The dependable strength is in the group of returning veterans. That unit includes a pair of good ends, Lowell Perry and Fred Pickard, Tackles Tom Johnson and Roger Zatkoff, and Guards Jim Wolter and Pete Kinyon.

Short On Experience

In the backfield, Oosterbaan is

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Back in 1935, Port Robertson was one of the Oklahoma U. wrestlers whom Coach Paul Keen loaded into a rattly model-T to go to Bethlehem, Pa., for the NCAA tournament. . . . It took them nine days for the round trip and they did very well in finish second after such strenuous travel. . . . This spring, Robertson, now Sooner coach, loaded his wrestlers into two university-owned airplanes moaning because two boys had to use commercial planes, and flew to Bethlehem in seven hours. His team won the NCAA title. . . . Naturally, Port is enthusiastic, though it seems odd in a sport where falls are so important. . . . Another Oklahoma coach, Joe Glander, recently heard of a South African swimmer who wanted to go to school at O. U. . . . Joe was eager too, until he learned that the kid's passage would cost $600. . . . Then track coach John Jacobs suggested: "Why don't you grease him and have him swim over?"

Jamaica Racing Stirs Up Fans

Crowd Around 40,000 Expected For Opener

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK — (AP) — Metropolitan racing fans, who are supposed to have been saving their money since New York tracks closed last Nov. 15, came out of hibernation today and headed for Jamaica.

The popular track opened a 36-day meeting with 15 crack sprinters competing in the $25,000-added Paumonok handicap over the six furlong route.

Jamaica, which annually has the honor of opening the state's 196-day racing season, is expected to entertain a crowd of around 40,000, depending on the weather. Some showers have been forecast.

Most of the 15 horses entered for the Paumonok have been active in Florida during the winter. Probable favoritism in the race lies between Belair stud's Hyphasis, winner of five out of seven Florida starts, and Henry Hecht's the Pincher, which coped two of three starts at Hialeah. In his last time out, the Pincher defeated Hyphasis. Both have 119 pounds today. Gustave Ring's Jam Session, 113, is coupled with the Pincher as an entry.

The work of sorting out the candidates for the derby, Preakness and Belmont and other sophomore classics starts in earnest Wednesday. On that day comes the $20,000 experimental handicap No. 1, first of three major three-year-olds tests that highlight the meeting. This is over the six furlong distance.

Saturday, April 14, brings the $25,000 experimental No. 2, a mile and one sixteenth, while the $40,000 Wood Memorial, at the same distance, is slated for April 21.

George D. Widener's Battlefield, the 1950 two-year-old champ, may start Wednesday. Joseph Colando's Pennsylvania-bred Uncle Miltie, heading the experimental weights under 126 pounds, isn't expected to start until the longer race, April 14.

Fubar Dept.

The universities of Arizona and Colorado clashed in a baseball game the other day. . . . Going into the last half of the eighth, Colorado had a big lead, then things began to happen. . . . Arizona batted around twice to score 15 runs on four hits, seven walks, seven errors, three stolen bases and a wild pitch. They finally had to call the game on account of darkness with only two men out. Final score 16 to 11. . . . But that didn't surprise the Arizona fans too much. The day before the Arizona freshmen played Arizona State of Tempe and stole 31 bases in two seven-inning games.

Tennis Champ Quits Exhibition Circuit

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)—Pro tennis champion Jack Kramer is quitting the exhibition tour circuit because he believes he can beat anyone in the business in the long run.

The 29-year-old star disclosed his decision yesterday after downing Richard Gonzales in the finals of the 1951 Philadelphia inquirer pro indoor round robin championships Saturday.

Kramer defeated the defending champion in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3 to take home a $2,850 check.

"I don't want to appear big-headed, but players and fans know I can lick any pro in the business today on a long trip," Kramer said.

Boston 1-2 Punch Too Much For Tiges

LAKELAND, Fla.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers now have tasted the Boston Red Sox's new one-two punch. And the taste is sour.

The new one-two punch, in case you haven't heard, is a pair of pitchers, Ray Scarborough and Bill Wight, who may well baffle the Tigers and the rest of the American league this summer.

When the Red Sox acquired the two former Chicago White Sox aces last fall, Boston's pennant stock went in the only direction it could go under the circumstances—up.

The smart sages in the baseball world promptly said the Red Sox "couldn't miss." However they've said the same thing for the last two seasons and each time the Bostonians flopped.

But at yesterday's game in Saratoga the Red Sox, with Scarborough and Wight pitching, offered evidence to the Detroit ball club that this may really be their year.

Boston battered the Tigers 8-1 while Scarborough and Wight allowed only seven hits. Detroit outfielder Vic Wertz scored the only run in the seventh inning after a smashing triple to right field. Hoot Evers' fly moved him home.

The Tigers touched Scarborough for six hits in seven innings and Wight for only one in two innings. Wertz and first baseman Don Kol-loway got two hits each.

Shortstop Johnny Ligon, the leading batter among the regulars, got one hit in one official time at bat to keep up his fast pace.

The Tigers, who wind up their Florida schedule against the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg tomorrow, now have lost 11 of their 15 games.

The Tigers sent seven players to the minors Saturday, including their $75,000 bonus catcher, Frank House.

House went to Toledo of the American Association along with second baseman Al Federoff, outfielder George Lerchen, and pitchers Ken Fremming, Dick Marlowe, Ernie Funk, and Bob Simononis. Simononis is expected to be moved on down to Williamsport in the Eastern league.

Putter Almost Costs $2,000

Mangrum Has Narrow Squeak April 1

By KEN ALYTA

WILMINGTON, N. C.—(AP)—If it had to happen there was no more appropriate time than April Fool's day.

The 18th green of the Cape Fear Country club was crowded with thousands of spectators waiting for the presentation of the $2,000 first prize in the Azalea open golf tournament to Lloyd Mangrum late yesterday afternoon.

They had seen the veteran Chicagoan score a closing par 72 for 281 to lead the field and were waiting for the presentation ceremony.

It never took place. Mangrum's last putt had hardly settled in the cup before word spread that there was a question of a possible infraction of the 14-club rule by the former national open champion.

He faced possible disqualification, which would have moved Jimmy Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y., Ed Furgol, Royal Oak, Mich., and Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, into a triple tie for the lead. They'd finished a stroke back of Mangrum with 282.

The rules committee, three local club members and PGA representative Howard Capps, were rounded up to hear the case. After 45 minutes of hearing all sides of the story they held that Mangrum violated no rule and he was given the $2,000 top money.

Mangrum had decided to change putters after the front nine when he took a two-over 38. He went into the locker room for a new putter to play the 10th. However, his attention was called to the fact that he couldn't change clubs unless the original club was no longer fit for play and he discarded the new putter for the one with which he started.

The committee reasoned that since he had not actually used the second putter he was not guilty of using 15 clubs.

Turnesa, Furgol and Ferrier each won $1,066.66 in sharing second place. Ferrier booster his top money earnings to $10,729.

Three men tied for fifth place at 283 for $606.66. They were Greiner, Henry Ransom, St. Andrews, Ill., and Earl Stewart, Dallas, who was the 34-hole leader at 208, one stroke ahead of Mangrum.

Pennant Talk Runs High For Giants

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—This could be the year the New York Giants have been waiting for since 1937. After many lean seasons in the polo grounds, pennant talk is running high.

Manager Leo Durocher, a talented driving boss, has a sound ball club with fine pitching, blazing speed and a flashy double play combination in Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky.

Scoring runs is the Giants' big problem. They finished next-to-last in batting with a team average of .258 last season. Despite the convenient home run distances in the polo grounds, they were fifth in their old specialty.

Bobby Thomson, a shocking disappointment in '50, must regain his old form for the Giants to be contenders. Thomson dropped so badly from his 309 pace of '49, that Durocher once had him battling eighth last summer. In late season he got back on the track to finish with .252, and hit 25 homers.

Durocher, never one for predictions on how his club will finish, thinks the team is improved over last year. It goes without saying that he'll need a better one to win for his '50 team hovered around .300 mark most of the summer before its scorching September spurt stole third place from Boston.

"I know I've got a better club," said Durocher. "Artie Wilson, Ray Noble and Al Gettel make it better."

"You got to say Brooklyn is the team to beat. And Philadelphia is going to be in there. That Cincinnati club can give you plenty of trouble too. This is a real tough league. Anybody can knock you off."

Durocher knows Sal Maglie's 18-4 year was phenomenal with his string of 45 scoreless innings and five shutouts. He realizes he got a terrific break in grabbing Jim Hearn from St. Louis for the $10,000 waiver price last July. Hearn wound up with an 11-4 year including five shutouts.

Fans Help Heilmann Beat Old Pneumonia

DETROIT — (AP) — "A fellow couldn't help but put up a real fight when he had so many people fighting with him."

That was Harry Heilmann, known as the "voice of the Detroit Tigers," speaking from his bed at Henry Ford hospital.

Heilmann said the reaction of baseball fans amazed him when he was stricken with pneumonia two weeks ago.

"One day I'm at the ball park and the next day under an oxygen tent at the hospital. Then from all over Michigan letters, cards, and telegrams started pouring in. Six thousand of them at least."

The former Tiger star outfielder is convalescing now. It was not known whether he'll be in shape to describe the Tigers' opening game April 17 at Briggs stadium.

Heilmann was flown to Detroit from Florida in the private plane of Tiger owner W. O. Briggs Saturday.

Red Wings Recover From Two Defeats, Hope To Even Series

MONTREAL —(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, brought to life by their first victory in the Stanley cup playoffs, will aim to even the series with the Montreal Canadiens here tomorrow night.

The count in their best of seven semi-final series now stands at two wins for Montreal, one for Detroit. The Detroiters, who had lost the first two, won Saturday night 2-0 on goals by Gordie Howe and Sid Abel.

The two clubs will shift to Detroit for a Thursday game.

Howe ended the Wings' scoreless streak at 218 minutes and 42 seconds of play. He scored at 16:32 of the second period for Detroit, defending Stanley cup champion and regular season national league champions.

Hoopla Boosts Wagers At Laurel, Md., Track

LAUREL, Md. — (AP) — Laurel race track is entertaining bigger crowds that bet more money, and the hoopla planned to woo the bettors hasn't even started yet.

The turnout last Saturday of 22,156 persons who wagered $1,298,343—only $50,000 short of what was bet at Pimlico last Preakness day—boosted the total attendance and handle above last year's mark for the first eight days of the spring meeting.

Still to come are a few tricks the new track managers are trying to encourage bigger attendance.

Wednesday is ladies' day. All women will be admitted with only the tax payment, and the first 1,000 will receive corsages of three orchids each.

In addition, a typical fan will be chosen sometime this week from the miling crowds. One day next week he will be dined and feted and limousined, given $50 to bet and showered with all the attention the track can give during the afternoon.

Then next Saturday, a Maryland-bred horse will be given away to the fan who selects the most winners on the eight-race card.

Bradley Basketball Tournament Goes Big; Bigger Next Season

PEORIA, Ill.—(AP)—Bradley University's national campus basketball tournament promises to be bigger and better next year.

The inaugural meet, which ended Saturday night with Syracuse defeating favored Bradley, 76-75 for the title, was acclaimed such a whopping success that plans already are afoot to make it an annual affair.

The only attendance problem is to provide enough seats for all the customers who want to go.

The new tournament had eight entries—host Bradley, Syracuse, Wyoming, Utah, Western Kentucky, Villanova, Duquesne and Toledo—but probably will have 10 or 12 next year.

There was indication that the campus meet may turn into a direct competitor of the national invitational tournament held in Madison Square Garden.

It's Football Time In Michigan Colleges

DETROIT — (AP) — The big league baseball season maybe starting in two weeks, but four major Michigan colleges are concentrating their athletic thoughts elsewhere.

It's football time at Michigan, Michigan State, University of Detroit and Wayne university. Spring practice was scheduled to start this week at the four schools.

All four coaches at the schools are welcoming the recent ruling allowing freshmen to perform.

Head coach Biggie Munn at Michigan State says around 200 men have drawn uniforms for the spring practice session.

Bennie Oosterbaan at Michigan reports he has two holdovers from his 1951 Rose bowl champions, quarterback Bill Putich and tackle Tom Johnson.

Wayne university's Lou Zarza will have 60 candidates on hand for practice, but faces the problem of replacing line coach Jack Fallen who resigned last fall.

At U. of D. all thoughts are on the clash with mighty Notre Dame. The Titans announced the Oct. 5 scheduling of the Irish after overcoming many obstacles. New head coach Earl (Dutch) Clark will have 75 men on hand.

Denver Wins Ski Jump At Mt. Hood

GOVERNMENT CAMP, Ore. — (AP)—Torbjorn Falkanger, Norwegian exchange student from Washington State college, won the jumping event but Denver university carried off the national intercollegiate four-way ski championship as the event ended on Mt. Hood yesterday.

Child Welfare Problems Told

Gillespie Cites Need For Local Service

In the eyes of the law a child is a citizen of his country and of his state and as a citizen has his own "inalienable rights," Robert Gillespie, district children's consultant for the Michigan Department of Welfare, told the Escanaba Rotary club at its meeting today noon at the Delta hotel.

Children no longer are considered the property of their fathers, to be bound out, to work long hours, to be subjected to ill-treatment, Gillespie pointed out.

The welfare of the child, particularly those who come from less fortunate families or are without families altogether, is a problem of the community and can be solved at the local level, Gillespie believes.

The speaker cited attacks on the "welfare state" in relationship to expenditures of tax money. There is a return to every community not only in dollars and cents but in case of welfare for children in the growth and development of better citizens, he declared.

Gillespie pointed out that under Michigan law juvenile courts and local welfare departments "have extensive powers and authority, which if used to their capacity and limit, could well take care of many of the local problems dealing with children who are neglected, dependent, and delinquent."

He added that he was not pointing a finger of blame at anyone, and said that actually "we are all to blame because we do not take enough interest to know what these agencies can do." There is also the need of financing programs to correct problems at the local level, he said.

"It is easy to stand off and criticize and blame—but it is democracy and it is Christianity in action to help," Gillespie declared.

The Rotary club elected six directors for the ensuing year who will meet within the following week to elect officers. The directors-elect are Carl Benninger, James Degnan, Dr. Roy Johnson, E. A. Neiderauer, Dr. N. L. Lindquist and Nevin Reynolds.

House Takes Up Draft Bill; Senate Troops To Europe

would be binding on Mr. Truman. One needs only Senate action; the other needs action by both houses.

Some senators want Congress to pass a law specifically authorizing the president to send troops to General Dwight D. Eisenhower's international army.

Others want Congress to say that the president doesn't have to consult it at all about sending more troops.

Still others want the two resolutions combined into one which, if passed by both houses and signed by the president, would have the force of law.

Many were in doubt as to the exact meaning of the "Congressional approval" section.

Ship Deal Traced

Only a few senators are opposed to sending any troops at all abroad.

The new draft bill in the House may also get involved in the troops issue.

That's because GOP leaders have made it a party matter to tack an amendment to the draft bill prohibiting use of American troops in the Eisenhower army without prior Congressional approval.

Formal debate on the measure gets started tomorrow. The Senate has already passed its version of a new draft bill.

Meanwhile, there were these other developments today:

1. Investigation-minded senators sniffed eagerly along the trail of a deal in war surplus ships. Three separate committees talked of holding an inquiry.

Former Rep. Joseph E. Casey, a Massachusetts Democrat now in an attorney here, reportedly was conferring at a secret New York meeting place with some of his partners in the pot-of-gold ship deal.

Casey has told Congress he and his friends ran up a $2,800,000 profit on a $100,000 investment in surplus oil tankers.

No senator has indicated there was anything illegal about the transaction but there is interest in finding out whether political influence played a part.

Vice Report Finished

Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Tenn.) of the Senate commerce committee told a reporter yesterday his group will act quickly to get a preliminary inquiry underway.

2. Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the crime investigating committee, has named the Continental Press, a racing news wire service, as "public enemy No. 1." The crime hunters, whose sensational hearings kept the eyes of millions glued to television screens last week, are writing their final report.

Kefauver made his statement about Continental Press on a television program yesterday. He said

Briefly Told

Anna Lequia left yesterday for Ishpeming to attend the funeral of her cousin, Louis Nault.

Miss Marcia Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Farrell, 602 South 9th street, left this morning for school. Miss Farrell attends Lawrence college, in Appleton.

Mrs. Phillip Stein, 700 South 14th street, Mrs. Ben Fineman, 915 South third avenue, and Miss Minnie Stein, 700 South 14th, left this morning for Chicago. They will visit for a week with relatives and friends.

Civilian Defense Forum—There will be a forum on civilian defense held at the William Oliver Memorial auditorium, Tuesday at 8 p. m. This is sponsored by the adult education program.

To Conference—Dr. William C. Harrison, director of the Delta-Menominee health district, will leave tomorrow for Lansing to attend a three-day health officers conference.

Stolen Car Found—James Kessler, 1323 First avenue north, reported to police his 1950 Ford automobile was taken from a parking stall at 1323 First avenue north Saturday night. It was found later by state police near St. Jacques.

Camera Club—"Flower Photography" is the subject for competition at the regular meeting of the Escanaba Camera Club tonight at 7:45 p. m. The meeting will be held in the club rooms at the Red Cross Headquarters.

Rifle Practice—The Escanaba Rifle and Pistol club and other adults interested in .22 caliber gun operation will hold a target session in the Kiwanis recreation center in north Escanaba beginning at 6:45 this evening.

Auxiliary Firemen—Capt. Nels Bergeon, of the Escanaba fire department, will hold a meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. for all people who would like to become or who are auxiliary members of the fire department. The meeting will be held at No. 1 fire station.

Two Fires—The fire department received two calls to extinguish minor fires on Saturday. One call was to the Nels Bergeon home, 608 South Eighth street, where there was an overheated oil stove, and the other to the John Burke home, 507 South 16th street, where there was a chimney fire.

Drunken Driving—Adolph Sarasin, 536 North 19th street, paid a fine of $50 and costs on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor today. He was arrested by police Saturday night on North 23rd street and was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Henry E. Ranguette. His operator's license was revoked.

Auto Accident—None was injured when an automobile, driven by C. E. Johnson, Ogden avenue, mechanical superintendent of the Escanaba Daily Press, skidded off the slippery pavement near Peshtigo and landed on its left side on the highway shoulder Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, daughter, Carolyn and Mrs. Richard Flath were shaken up but were able to continue on their way to Milwaukee, where they attended the Ice Follies. The left fender and door were damaged.

Gerald LeDuc Infant Son Dies

Wayne Joseph, three-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald LeDuc, 1607 Sheridan Road, died at 11 this morning at St. Francis hospital. The baby was born March 30. Surviving in addition to the parents are two brothers, Russell and Daniel, and the grandmothers, Mrs. Ruth Ackerman and Mrs. Florence Randall. The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home. Services will be held tomorrow.

the committee report, due the end of this month, will recommend legislation to put Continental out of business.

MUST SHIELD EUROPE—WASHINGTON — (AP)—President Vincent Auriol of France told Congress today that if his country falls before the forces of aggression "the whole world, indeed civilization itself, will be in mortal danger."

Addressing a special Senate-House session, he said to prevent such a disaster the west must base its defense strategy on "shielding" western Europe against attack.

The alternative, he said, is to "liberate a Europe which may once more be occupied, enslaved, exploited and ravaged and whose name, you may be sure, would only recall the final ruin of a civilization."

Auriol's speech climaxed a formal six-day state visit here as guest of President Truman. He planned to leave by train for New York soon after (2 p. m., EST) for three more days of speeches, dinners and receptions.

In his final appearance here, Auriol cautioned America's legislators of the dangers of "uncoordinated diplomacy and strategy." The west must stand together, he said, building regional defense pacts "to deter aggression and strengthen the peace."

Scout Court At Hermansville

Red Buck Officials Will Attend

HERMANSVILLE — The Boy Scouts of Troop 478 of Hermansville will hold a troop Court of Honor at the Hermansville high school Tuesday, April 3, starting at 7:30.

Films of the 1950 Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., will be shown and will be followed by the Court. Refreshments will be served by the W. S. C. S. of Hermansville after the ceremony.

At the Court of Honor a Star badge will be awarded to Billy Daniels, William Duca and John Farley will become second class Scouts and a number of merit badges will be awarded to members of the troop for various achievements. A tenderfoot investiture ceremony also will be held during the evening at which several recruits will be accepted into the troop.

Commissioners and members of the district committee of Red Buck District from Nahma, Gladstone, Escanaba, Bark River and Powers are expected to be present and the meeting is open to the public. All parents and friends of the Scouts are expected.

Early Resident Of Nahma Dies

Took Part In Sturgeon River Drives

Alexander (Sandy) Boutillier, 83, of Ogontz, who worked on the timber drives on the Sturgeon River in 1893, died at 8 last evening at the Delta Convalescent Home.

Mr. Boutillier was born in French Village, Nova Scotia, December 22, 1867. In his early years he spent a short time on the west coast, around Vancouver, British Columbia. He came to Nahma to work as a woodsman and later was a butcher at the Nahma Meat Market and also was employed in the Bay de Noc general store in Nahma.

After buying a farm at Ogontz he farmed from 1911 until 1931 when he retired. He continued to live at the farm until 1939 and then acquired a small parcel of land near US-2 in that community where he built a home and lived until he entered the Convalescent Home in 1949.

He is survived by three brothers, Sidney of French Village, Peter of Seattle, Wash., and William of Vancouver, British Columbia.

The body was taken to the Anderson funeral home. Arrangements for the services are incomplete but they will be held in Escanaba and burial will be in Gardens of Rest cemetery.

Outdoor Writers Meeting Plans Told To Kiwanis

More than five hundred outdoor writers will come to Escanaba to fish and write stories about the Upper Peninsula during the OWA's national convention in Escanaba June 30 to July 7, Wm. J. Duchaine told the Kiwanis club Monday noon.

A color movie, "Fishin' for Fun," was shown at the meeting. Ben Hardesty, Don Allen and Lou Caine, nationally known bait and fly casters, will give exhibitions during the convention. Fred Bear of Grayling and Larry Whiffen of Milwaukee will give demonstrations of bow and arrow shooting.

Big name writers, whose articles on hunting and fishing appear in Sports Afield, Outdoor Life, Field and Stream, and other publications, are coming to the convention, Duchaine said.

Ore Handlers Get Call As First Carrier Arrives

ore. Another ship of the Hanna line, the Str. A. E. Heakin, is reported to be on her way from a Lower Lake port to Escanaba via the Straits of Mackinac.

"We are calling each individual iron ore handler asking him if he will respond to work in accordance with rules governing hours of service and working conditions for iron ore handlers as revised Sept. 1, 1949; and in accordance with the general order No. 2 issued by the Department of the Army, operation of railroads, dated Feb. 8, 1951," Supt. Reynolds said.

Operation of the railroads of the nation is now under the control of the U. S. Army by proclamation of the president following an impasse in negotiations with striking railroad switchmen.

Mice do tremendous damage to trees of all sorts, and annually consume about three million tons of hay and larger quantities of alfalfa in the United States.

Know How He Felt?

MANISTEE — (AP)—Did you ever shovel the snow out of your driveway and then have a snow plow zoom down the street and fill the driveway again? That happened to Harold Edwardson Saturday just as he finished clearing his driveway. So he threw his shovel at the snow-plow operator. Result: Edwardson was fined $20.

Three Alger Youths Held For Burglary

Three Alger county youths, who are being held in the Marquette county jail on charges of burglary, will be questioned today by Escanaba police in connection with three burglaries in this city.

They are: Charles Richard, 17, Munising; Robert Rexstrew, 21, Route 1, Munising; and Richard Niedzwiecki, 18, Route 1, Munising.

The trio waived preliminary examination, on charges of breaking and entering four gasoline stations in Marquette the night of March 17, when arraigned in Marquette municipal court. They were bound over to circuit court. Unable to post bond, they were committed to the county jail.

Police Chief M. F. Ettenhofer and Assistant Police Chief John Finn will question the young men about the burglaries at Bero's Garage, 318 North 23rd street, Al Houle's Garage, 514 Stephenson Houle's Gas Station, 514 Stephenson avenue and the Community Gas Station, 200 North 12th street.

Light Voting Reported Here

Only 33 Votes At Noon, City Hall

An extremely light vote was reported in Escanaba today for the spring election. Unless a surge of electors develops this afternoon, the election total may be among the lightest in recent history.

Only 33 votes were cast at the city hall by one o'clock this afternoon in a precinct that has upwards of 800 registered voters. Similar light voting was reported in other precincts in the city.

The polls will be open to eight o'clock tonight.

Regent Talks To U-M Alumni

More Funds Needed, Herbert Reports

Financial support for the University of Michigan is inadequate to maintain the university's program and unless more funds are made available, about 400 members of the teaching staff will have to be released next year, J. Joseph Herbert, of Manistique, regent, told U of M alumni and friends at a meeting here Saturday night.

Herbert traced the history of the university from its founding in 1817. The regent of the university reported that the educational institution was established under the name of Catholopistemiad of Michigan by three Detroit personalities, Rev. Fr. Gabriel Richard, a Catholic priest, Rev. Edward Monteith, a Presbyterian clergyman, and Augustus Woodward, Detroit pioneer for whom the city's famed Woodward avenue was named.

The university was absorbed by the state in 1837 to develop a state system of continuous education through the university level, the speaker said.

Mr. Herbert reported that a new president of the university will be announced within the next two or three months. The regents have traveled thousands of miles, interviewing many candidates, and have narrowed the field to four or five men, he reported.

It is not the desire of the regents to select a president who will "remake the university," Mr. Herbert said.

Motion pictures of the Rose bowl game, the Tournament of Roses parade and the University of Michigan marching band were shown at the meeting.

George Perrin was chairman of the arrangements committee for the event and President Wm. J. Miller sent a telegram of greetings from Washington, D. C., where he is visiting.
